Emne: Send Your Paper a Letter About The Threat Of Iran

Send An Email To Your Newspapers And Elected Officials Urging Them To STOP IRAN!

Time is running out to diplomatically persuade Iran, the leading state sponsor of terror, from achieving nuclear capability. Thus, we are asking you to please contact the media and your elected officials to let them know the facts. On August 25, 2008 then President-elect Obama said "My job as president would be to try to make sure that we are tightening the screws diplomatically on Iran, that we've mobilized the world community to go after Iran's program in a serious way, to get sanctions in place so that Iran starts making a difficult calculation."

However, while the world is focused on the financial crisis, Iran holds enough uranium to build one nuclear bomb. The International Atomic Energy Agency, the UN's nuclear watchdog, released a report on February 19, 2009 revealing that Iran's production of low enriched uranium had previously been underestimated and that Iran has successfully reached "breakout capacity", a "red line".
