

Laying foundations for the future of Jewish life in Israel and around the world

SEARCH

Subscribe To Newsletter

PUBLICATIONS

OPINION COLUMNS

RESOURCE CENTER

DIGITAL LECTURES

NEWS

SHIeducation

SHIfocus

SHIevents

SHIbookshelf

SHIhighlights

Support Shalom Hartman Institute

MENACHEM LORBERBAUM

Print Send to a friend

Menachem Lorberbaum has a doctorate in philosophy from The Hebrew University of Jerusalem and is founding chairman of Tel Aviv University's Department of Hebrew Culture Studies.

His most recent book, Politics and Limits of Law: Secularizing the Political Medieval Jewish Thought, was published in English by Stanford University Press and in Hebrew by Shalom Hartman Institute. He is editor of the new Hebrew translation of Thomas Hobbes' classic, Leviathan, forthcoming from the Shalem Press.

Menachem is co-editor of a four-volume work, The Jewish Political Tradition, along with Michael Walzer and Noam Zohar.

Click here to see Menachem Lorberbaum's page at Wikipedia.

menachem@shi.org.il

- CENTERS
- A Advanced Judaic Studies
- E Education
- R Rabbinic Enrichment
- L Lay Leadership Education

ARTICLES BY
Moshe Rabbeinu and the Winograd Commission

Advanced Judaic Studies | Education | Rabbinic Enrichment | Lay Leadership Education | Boys High School | Girls High School | Melamdim | About Shalom Hartman Institute | Programs | Fellows | Calendar | Publications | Blog | Contact Us | Staff | Havruta | Support Shalom Hartman Institute

Copyright ©2009 Shalom Hartman Institute - All rights reserved.